NEARLY A CENTURY

John Holliger Passes Away at Age of 94 Years.

The passing of John Holliger on Easter morning takes from our village one of its best known and most highly esteemed citizens, and the oldest inhabitant of the village.

John Holliger was born in Emfelden, Switzerland, Canton Argau, January 26, 1817. In October, 1852 he was united in marriage with Miss Eliza Sigerist, and in 1855 they came to this country locating in Perrysburg where they have since resided.

Mr. Holliger was a tailor by trade and worked at this business almost continuously until about three years ago, when he became too feeble to longer continue the work. For many years he occupied the brick building on Front street adjoining the Journal office where he did an extensive business.

There were no children born to this family, but two nieces were raised and educated by Mr. and Mrs. Holliger—Rosa Mathis, now Mrs. R. Danz, of Perrysburg, and Rosa Holliger, now Mrs. McGinnis, of Toledo.

In 1902 Mr. and Mrs. Holliger celebrated their golden wedding and the occasion was one that brought to the venerable gentleman many remembrances from a host of friends who had long known him as one of our most highly respected citizens.

Mr. Holliger was a member of the Evangelical church, and had always lived a devout christian life.

For the past two years he had frequently expressed the hope that he might be called away, and on Easter morning at about 7 o'clock he closed his eyes as though in sleep to awake in the great hereafter.

The funeral services were held at the Evangelical church on Tuesday at 1 o'clock p. m., by Rev. Zachman, and the remains placed at rest in Ft. Meigs cemetery.

SEED AND DRAINAGE

Some Pertinent Points Sent Out by Agricultural Department.

Good seed and good drainage will invent a blessing and a bank account. Bad seed corn will cost farmers more than the cutting and husking.

A tile drain every 40 feet will be a friend in deed and a friend in need.

Make good wages testing seed corn. No use crying over spilled milk. No use planting corn that will not grow.

Good drainage will insure fat years. It has been discovered that during the Biblical seven lean years the tile ditches were stopped up.

Ohio's annual loss from bad and impure seed amounts to millions of dollars. Good seed is cheap, at any price.

Bad drainage costs Ohio millions of dollars. When the crop in the field shows where ditches run, more tile are needed.

"Give us this day our daily bread" is a good prayer. "Give us this year good seed corn," and religion and prosperity will both be more plentiful.

Average Ohio corn yield per acre is 38 bushels. A 4-ounce nubbun on each stalk, 3 stalks in a hill, 3 1/2 feet apart, makes the average. This means nubbun farming.

Average Ohio corn yield per acre is 38 bushels. Average ear is four-ounce nubbun. This is 9 1/2 bushels for each ounce. Good seed will add one ounce to this average nubbun. Good drainage will add another ounce.

Good drainage and good seed would mean at least a six-ounce average nubbun instead of four-ounce as at present. This increase from four to six would add 19 bushels of corn to each acre. Health. Wealth. Success.

Ohio cultivates 3 million acres of corn annually. Add 19 bushels to each acre's average and the result will give 57 million bushels more corn to the Ohio crop. At 40 cents per bushel, over 20 million dollars would be added to the wealth of Ohio annually. Good seed and good drainage equals Dollars and Sense.

Add 2 ounces to the average Ohio nubbun, and tons of prosperity will be added to the railroads, banks, elevators, mills, merchants, farmers, and some small change to the preachers.

Good drainage will save corn in dry weather as well as in wet. On well drained ground, corn roots go down instead of horizontal. This gives them moisture at all times. Corn always suffers most on undrained ground in dry weather.

If you want reward for your labor be careful in selecting seed corn this year. Many tests made indicate that a large per cent cannot be relied upon to grow.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture desires to urge every farmer to give attention to Good Seed and Good Drainage.

Respectfully,

A. P. Sandies, Secretary.

FUNERAL OF HENRY J. MORSE.

The funeral of Henry J. Morse, a brother of David M. Morse of Perrysburg, was held here on Friday last, interment being made in Ft. Meigs cemetery.

Mr. Morse was 56 years old and was formerly a resident of Perrysburg. He was taken ill some time ago at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Battle Creek, and died there Tuesday night.

He leaves a son, Ladd H. Morse of Toledo, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Smith, of Battle Creek.

A sad feature is that Mrs. Ladd Morse, who went to Battle Creek four weeks ago to assist in caring for him, was taken ill and died a few days after her arrival there.

Mr. Morse had many friends here who will regret his death.

CAMP FIRE STORY

How the 67th Boys Obtained Supply of Fresh Pork.

The following story of the method used to obtain a much needed supply of fresh pork by members of the 67th O. V. V. I., in which Charles Chappell, better known as "Dick" of Perrysburg, figured very prominently. The story is as follows:

After the surrender of Lee some companies of the Sixty-seventh Ohio Volunteer Infantry were stationed at Hanover Junction, seventeen miles south of Richmond. Most of us were quartered in the old courthouse built of brick brought from England in 1700. We had strict orders against foraging and were not allowed to fire a gun within forty rods of the courthouse. There were some fine shoats running around the yard every day, and we became hungry for roast pork, but our captain and provost marshal were very watchful, and to throw them off the scent we concluded to purchase some pork from an old woman who had pork for sale, and thus furnish an excuse for the smell of roast pork, which the captain was sure to detect. So we sent a man to old Topsy and he bought a few pounds of pork. I told Dick Chappell that if he would get one of the shoats behind the cook house and near the wall around the court house, and let me know and have a gun ready, I would plug one of the shoats if they would dress it. I was company clerk, and soon afterward, while sitting in the office at the same desk with the captain, Dick came in and gave me the wink. I excused myself for a moment, ran to the back part of the building, found the gun, opened the window and fired at one of the shoats in the yard below. Then I went back to the office. The captain asked me if I didn't hear a shot close by; but, strangely enough, I had not noticed it. The pork was dressed and the offal hidden in the walls of the building.

Soon afterwards the captain noticed the smell of fresh pork and stepped into our dining room while we were eating. I invited him to have some pork, but he declined. He wanted to know where we got our fresh meat, and when I told him we got it from Aunt Topsy, at Broad Neck farm, he said that he would send down to Broad Neck and find out about it. He did so, and everything seemed all straight. We had a feast which we enjoyed, but those who afterward occupied the building must have noticed a rotten smell about the walls where we hid the offal.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

WAGES PAID FARM HELP.

Higher wages were paid to American farm laborers during 1910 than at any time in the last forty-five years according to statistics made public by the department of agriculture. The average wages for the country was $27.50 per month during 1910, while twenty years ago they were only $18.33. With board, the average was $19.11. In some parts of the country, the rate of wages of farm laborers was higher than in others. The highest was in Nevada, where the rate was $54.00, while in Washington and Montana it was $50. South Carolina paid the lowest rate, $16.50 per month. In the north central states, east of the Mississippi, the average was $31.81, with Wisconsin paying the highest $37.25. With board the average was $22.94. The average wage paid in Wood county is unusually high, being $130 per day with board and $173 without board, or $22.67 a month with board and $30.29 a month without.

HOW TO BOOST A TOWN.

No town can become any bigger than the people who live in it. As the people grow, so also will the town expand. Begin to get chesty and see how quickly the contagion will spread. Then watch the old town expand to adjust itself to the new state of affairs. Personal pride in anything which interests you is a commendable trait.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Canadian Reciprocity Bill Favorably Reported.

The special session of Congress in its second week has taken up its legislative work with great vigor and the Democrats are encouraged to believe that much work will be accomplished during the legislative session. By a vote of 296 to 16 the bill proposing a Constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of United States Senators was passed. Only one Democrat opposed the measure. The other fifteen voting against it were Republicans. The Canadian reciprocity bill has also been favorably reported. Mr. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee announced that the free list tariff measure will be reported before the end of the week. Among important bills introduced was one to regulate the traffic in cold storage products, another to increase the prestige of the American merchant marine, a third to regulate the issuance of injunctions and another bill to change the date of the inauguration of the President to the last Thursday in April. This last bill has often been up in Congress and it is an effort to extend the term of the short session and to fix the date of inauguration which has become a national pageant, attracting hundreds of thousands of people, to a time of year of fairer weather than the proverbially cold and stormy 4th of March. It is probable that before this is in print the Canadian reciprocity measure will have passed the House. The Democratic leaders have fully decided to go into the agricultural schedule and make important changes which they demanded during the tariff discussions of last year. Other schedules not included in the general legislative program it is expected will be brought before the House probably during this month. The success of the House in passing the bill providing for the popular election of Senators has had an exhilarating influence on the minds of the majority leaders, and they are hopeful that much important legislation may be enacted.

Up to the present time the Democratic ways and means committee of the House had not contemplated much more than a revision of the wool and cotton schedules, but owing to their successes this week, they realize that they have time for additional tariff revision. Mr. Underwood, chairman of the committee, is of the opinion that the session will be completed earlier than has been anticipated.

It is expected that the ways and means committee will take up the woolen schedule of the tariff bill without waiting for the report of the tariff board, inasmuch as it is understood that this board will not be able to furnish information concerning the woolen schedule during the present session. The possible revision of this schedule came up in the Senate on Thursday, when Senator Warren, whom the late Senator Dooliver characterized as the "greatest shepherd since Abraham," offered a number of protests and memorials deprecating revision of the wool schedule. The Wyoming Senator represents a wool-growing state, but he said that these memorials do not protest against ultimate revision, but simply prayed Congress to defer action until proper information could be received as a basis for scientific revision.

Senator Cummins has opened a long expected attack on the somewhat dilatory national monetary commission, that refuge of "lame ducks," as it has been called. The Iowa Senator introduced a bill requiring this commission to present its final report at the beginning of the next session in December, and this bill provides for the repeal of the law creating the commission and removing it from the payroll as soon as its report is submitted.

The Aldrich plan for a central bank has been partially approved by the commission, and this plan, it is said, has Senator Cummins' and other Senators' approval.
